

Working with Dean Capesius has completely transformed my golf game. From the very first lesson, Dean broke things down in a way that finally made sense. Dean's ability to diagnose issues quickly—and explain the “why” behind every adjustment—gave me confidence I'd never had before.

What stands out the most is Dean's patience and genuine passion for helping players improve. Every session feels tailored, encouraging, and productive. I'm hitting the ball more consistently, scoring lower, and enjoying the game more than ever. I can't recommend Dean Capesius highly enough, he is the best coach I've ever worked with.

I've been working with Dean Capesius, a PGA-certified instructor, for over four years, and the improvement in my game has been remarkable. As a casual golfer, I was simply hoping to become more consistent and enjoy the game more. What I gained from working with Dean far exceeded those expectations.

One of the biggest transformations has been in my short game, which Dean helped me completely rebuild into a strength. Around the greens I now feel confident in ways I never did before. Perhaps even more impressive is that at 61 years old I've gained over 15 mph in ball speed, something I honestly didn't think was possible at this stage.

Dean combines deep knowledge of the golf swing with modern technology such as simulators, video analysis, and training aids. But what truly sets him apart is his ability to translate that information into clear, personalized instruction. He has helped me understand swing mechanics that are specific to my swing rather than forcing a one-size-fits-all approach.

The biggest benefit has been learning how to recognize and self-correct mistakes, which has made practice and playing much more productive and enjoyable.

If you're serious about improving your golf game — regardless of your age or skill level — I highly recommend working with Dean. His coaching, insight, and ability to personalize instruction make him an exceptional teacher.

Dean has been my golf coach for about 5 years. Dean is by far the best golf instructor I have had. His knowledge of all aspects from tee to green including putting is outstanding.

I played a lot of golf over the years and had a 14 handicap before I took about a 10-year hiatus from the game. When I decided to get back to playing golf My game had deteriorated significantly to the point, I had difficulty breaking 100.

Dean has helped to restore my game to the point that on a course the is not demanding I can break 90. I'm committed to continuing with Dean to improve all aspects of my game so I can shoot my age when I turn 80. I'm 77 and with Dean as my instructor I will get there.

Having played golf for several years, finding instruction, that can truly achieve results, is hard to find. Typically, I would take one lesson and then fall back into "old habits" after time. I decided to make the jump and came across Dean on the internet. In researching his bio, it was discovered that we grew up five years apart in the same hometown. A quality teacher not only has to have knowledge, but they also should be someone you get along with. After meeting with Dean, we discussed the goals and set a path to achieve them. Dean has been great in explaining the cause and effect on why things happen in the golf swing. I can take that information and incorporate it into the feel of my golf swing. I am seeing the results of the changes and look forward to continuing the journey.

I trust Dean so much that I recently introduced my daughter to him for lessons. She is just starting golf and was nervous of her ability. After her first lesson, she mentioned that he explained things in ways that made sense to her. I know the choice was correct, as she wants to continue working with him.

Dean Capius, a PGA Instructor at the Courses at Watters Creek in Allen, Texas, is an outstanding golf teacher and coach. I have had the pleasure of working with Dean for several years, and throughout that time I have consistently been impressed with his knowledge, patience, and dedication to helping his students improve.

Dean is attentive, encouraging, and genuinely invested in the progress of his students. He takes the time to understand each individual's swing and learning style, tailoring his instruction to meet their specific needs. Dean also has experience teaching students of all ages, including children, teens, college players, adults, and seniors. Because of this approach, his lessons are both productive and enjoyable.

I would highly recommend Dean Capesius to anyone looking to improve their golf game. His professionalism, teaching ability, and passion for the game make him an exceptional instructor
